AW, SHUCKS!

A postcard to THE NEWS from M. E. Guttman, of the Leader Store, who is summering and spending several weeks in New York on business and pleasure, says:

"Met some folks to-day from Paris, and I was surprised when they told me they had never heard of THE BOURBON NEWS and didn't know where The Leader Store was. Oh, I forgot to state that these folks were from Paris, France."

TALKS ON HYGENIE

Dr. P. K. Holmes, head of the Department of Health and Hygiene of the University of Kentucky, gave an interesting and instructive lecture to the teachers of the Bourbon County Normal School Tuesday afternoon. Dr. Holmes spoke mainly along the line of superstitions held by many people with reference to health and hygiene, and gave some excellent practical health hints and suggestions.

STEAL GUARD'S GUN

A nerry thief stole an automatic shot gun belonging to Geo. Ray, Tuesday night from a guard at the Louisville & Nashville underpass near Claysville. A heavy freight train was passing when the guard on duty set his gun down on a corner of the shack, while he went out to attend to some duty. When he returned he discovered his artillery to be missing. Another weapon was secured, and, according to the story told Wednesday morning, he kept it in sight thereafter.

DICK ENGLISH HELD TO GRAND JURY.

Richard English, of Paris, who was arrested in Lexington, last Friday, when, it is alleged more than four ounces of morphine was seized in a back room of a negro pool room by a Federal narcotic agent, was held to the federal grand jury Wednesday by U. S. Commissioner Chas. N. Ward on a charge of violating the Harrison narcotic law. His bond was fixed at $1,000, which was furnished.

English was represented at his preliminary hearing by Attorney W. P. Kimball. English did not testify or present any evidence at the preliminary hearing. He was held to the Frankfort court, which meets in September.

POLICE GIVE A WARNING TO CYCLISTS

Numerous complaints have been made recently to the Paris police regarding the doings of bicycle riders on the pavements and streets of this city, and the announcement has been made that they will begin an active crusade against offending bicyclists, who have neither bells, nor lights on their bikes. They will also keep a sharp lookout for riders who ride their machines on the pavements, which is strictly forbidden by ordinance.

With the coming of summer, use of bicycles has become more popular and many of the riders are very careless in not having bells or lights, both of which are required by ordinance. It would be well for bicycle riders to at once provide their bikes with bells and lights, and avoid the humiliation of being arrested and fined, which will surely be done.

"TOO MUCH WIFE" GENTLE SATIRE ON MARRIAGE

Is it possible for a husband to be come bored with a wife who permits his doing just as he pleases? Yes—if she insists upon doing it with him!

That is the interesting situation depicted in the Realart comedy, "Too Much Wife," which has Wanda Hawley as the star and will be on the screen at the Alamo and Grand to-morrow (Saturday) afternoon and night.

T. Roy Barnes has a particularly happy role as Jack Morgan, the husband whose domestic plight will elicit the sympathy of all too fondly-loved married men, while Arthur Hoyt convincingly represents another phase of marriage—the hen-pecked husband. Willard Louis is the oft-divorced man and Bertie Johns is the bashful bachelor. Other support includes Leigh Wyant and little John Fox, as the office-boy.

"Too Much Wife" was written by Lorna Moon, who has contributed to Cecil B. DeMille's series of screen sermons on marriage.

PARIS CHAUTAUQUA ENDS

The Redpath Chautauqua closed their Paris engagement Wednesday night after a successful eight-days' program full of interesting and entertaining features.

The two best numbers on the program, according to a large number of patrons, was "The Turn of The Road" and "Friendly Enemies," both high-class attractions. The latter production was greeted by one of the largest crowds of the engagement. The closing bill embraced concerts by Vieri's Hawaiians and a humorous review by Jesse Pugh, fun specialist.

At the close of the Tuesday night performance a canvass was made to ascertain the possibility of securing the Redpath attractions for next season. Sufficient signatures were received to guarantee the return of the Chautauqua for the coming season. The Chautauqua promoters are greatly pleased over the financial showing made this season and hope the next season will be as prosperous.
